Treasury's Public Affairs Office has advised us that Secretary Regan plans to announce soon his decision on how the U.S. Government will address the question of Soviet forced labor imports prohibitions. When Treasury asked us how they should respond to possible questions concerning the basis for the Secretary's decision, since much of the pertinent material came from CIA, we referred them to the DCI's letter to Senator Armstrong last year, which had been published in the Congressional Record, and related classified material which cannot be released or discussed.

We are initiating contact with National Archives regarding an appropriate ceremony to be hosted in about a month by Archives which will involve the DCI, Congressional Oversight Committees, OSS veterans and scholars to commemorate the release of certain OSS records to the public.
